Has he submitted a new request? Has he been granted a waiver by headquarters? If not, I think he is still subject to charges of at least $350.00 that we incurred finding the document. If you still want to proceed, I can email you the document. Please advise.

Ivry –

I believe that there is only one document that Mr. Bloom wants, and that we have already identified it. If that is correct, I imagine I will spend up to an hour on finalizing this FOIA request (as indicated on the attached). If that assumption is not correct, it could take more time.

HQ' is working on fee waiver appeal. Please fill out cost worksheet for estimated time it will take to complete Mr. Blooms FOIA request. We previously sent requestor an assurance of payment letter for $340.00.

David and Ivry –

It is my understanding that we should not spend time on this before we get an assurance of payment letter. I have already spent about 2 hours on this. It's hard to meet a deadline and not spend time prior to an assurance of payment letter when we don't find out about a fee waiver denial until the internal deadline. Ivry, I think we need to ask for an extension because I don't think we can complete our review (which I'm still working on) without the assurance of payment. I also think it's reasonable to anticipate that the requestor may appeal that denial, which may further delay the response.

Matt and Sharon – I'm copying you so you know what we're doing about this prior to our meeting (now scheduled for 11:30am) today, which we may need to postpone.

Karen,

Ivry had led me to believe the fee waiver was certain. He requested notification of anything over $5.00 I believe. Can you let her know how much time you have spent on this?

We still need time spent annotated. If we need additional time to have paper work scanned, we can send requestor a delay in records letter.

Christina,
Many documents were unclassified and unscanned. They are now in the hands of the site attorney under review for any privileged information we might need to withhold. Do you have another mechanism for delivery of paper copies of the documents? Do we need an extension to get the scanned? Please advise. Also, Ivry Johnson has initiated a fee waiver request to Headquarters. This will almost certainly be granted. Do you need the amount of time spent anyway? The requestor had requested notice if the bill exceeded $5.00, but after my conversation with Ivry, I assumed it was not necessary to notify him.

Thanks,

David
